

---

Subject: Re: Remove logmessage when entering VE
Posted by kfh on Mon, 09 Oct 2006 13:22:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Well, well.
Yes, I have LOG_LEVEL=9

So loglevel is for console/terminal and logfile.
I want information in my logfile, but a quiet console.

Regards,
Kristian.

On Monday den 9. October 2006 15:01, Kirill Korotaev wrote:

```
> Kristian,
>
> have you raised your default vzctl loglevel?
> if so, then dim@ is right. you are using verbose mode.
> and the shifted command line should be fixed then.
>
> Thanks,
> Kirill
>
> >>Hi list,
> >>
> >>Patch removing logmessage "Open /dev/pts/X"
> >>from src/enter.c when entering VE
> >>
> >>Before:
> >># vzctl enter 1010
> >>entered into VE 1010
> >>Open /dev/pts/0
> >>      root@dev-test2:/#
> >>
> >>After:
> >># vzctl enter 1010
> >>entered into VE 1010
> >>root@dev-test2:/#
> >
> > This is useful debug message, why to remove it?
> > If the problem is that the next line is shifted, then we need another > > fix.
> >
> >>Best regards,
> >>Kristian Høgh
> >>Segtel A/S
>
```

---