Subject: IP outgoing connections goes through host IP not VE - mail refuses to work
Posted by januszzz on Sun, 28 Oct 2012 10:17:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello,

I have some address space from my ISP and the problem is he changed his behaviour - some of reverse DNS entries are missing and my addres is not resolved to a name. The host networking is based on bridges and all outgoing connections are seen by external world as coming from host. Which by now is unresolveable and mails from it are not allowed to most other mail servers (I'm perceived as spammer).

somehow my virtual address is still right, so I want all my traffic from VE going out seen by external world to look like it goes from this IP and the IP of the host.

Is it possible and how? Any workarounds except kicking my ISP?

thanks.