Hi folks,

I need to create my own Debian 5.0 OS template.

According to;
http://wiki.openvz.org/Debian_template_creation

debootstrap --arch i386 etch /vz/private/777 http://http.us.debian.org/debian/

Can the above URL work for me?

Whether replace etch with lenny running;

debootstrap --arch i386 lenny /var/lib/vz/private/VE_number http://http.us.debian.org/debian/

???

Then run;
cat <<EOF > /etc/apt/sources.list
deb http://http.us.debian.org/debian lenny main contrib
deb http://security.debian.org lenny/updates main contrib
EOF

TIA

What will be the URL for Ubuntu 9.10?

B.R.

I'm sorry, your question is not very clear to me. If you want to create your own Ubuntu template (rather than Debian), you'd better check ubuntu-specific articles, such as http://wiki.openvz.org/Ubuntu_Gutsy_template_creation

http://wiki.openvz.org/Ubuntu_Hardy_template_creation
http://wiki.openvz.org/Updating_Ubuntu_template
http://wiki.openvz.org/Ubuntu_without_templates

Hi kir,

Sorry not making my question clear on my posting. Actually I want to create 2 templates, Debian 5.0 (Lenny) and Ubuntu 9.04 which I suppose being the latest Ubuntu version.

The URL on my posting;
http://http.us.debian.org/debian/

is for creating Debian 4.0 etch template. I don't know whether changing the word 'etch' to 'lenny' I can create Debian 5.0 lenny template.

I guess you can, assuming you are using debootstrap that is new enough to be aware of lenny.
