Subject: SSL in cloned VEs

I'm currently creating a debian based VE for my site web services and i'm planning to duplicate on 2 other servers. Usually with real servers we need to install seperately on each server and get the SSL info for each. How does it work with VEs. If I install it on the VE before cloning, will it work on the clone directly or will i need to reissue certificate for each clone. I'm looking for best way to do it.
Thanks
Greg
